Minor and Youth Children of Hoarding Parents

MYCOHP, Minor and Youth Children of Hoarding Parents, is a safe, understanding, peer support group for tweens, teens and youth living in hoarded homes.

MYCOHP.com is a place to discuss growing up in a hoarded home, and to meet and learn from others with similar experiences. Older teens, university students and other young adults often struggle to gain independence, you are most welcome here as are younger tweens struggling with these challenges.

About Children of Hoarders, Inc.

- COH Inc. is a grassroots, all-volunteer, not-for profit organization run by COHPs.
- Our vision is to improve the lives of children from hoarded homes.
- We've been online since 2006, connecting COHPs through the COH Inc. website, the Facebook page, our Yahoo Group, Twitter, and as of 2018 MYCOHP.com

Our Mission is to E.A.S.E. the challenges COHPs face by:

- EDUCATING and raising public awareness about hoarding.
- ADVOCATING for resources & policies to address the needs of COHPs & their families.
- SUPPORTING COHPs with practical tools and information to improve their daily lives.
- ENGAGING and collaborating with all affected by hoarding to promote a better future.

The MyCOHP Initiative for Tweens, Teens, and Students

The MyCOHP Initiative of COH, Inc. was launched in 2018 to serve the interests of Minor and Youth Children of Hoarding Parents. We seek to illuminate the difficulties children may suffer growing up in hoarded homes, to promote awareness, interventions, resources, and policy tailored to the needs of minors and youth. Our first project was the MyCOHP Online Peer Support Group for Minors and Youth, launched in late 2018. The Voices of COHPs project launched shortly afterward in 2019.
